TITLE 1: STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The purpose of the Washington District Library is to make available to residents of Washington Library District materials that will meet educational, informational, cultural, and recreational interests and needs of the community. It is the responsibility of the Library to satisfy the diverse interests and needs of the residents through the selection, acquisition, and organization of the library materials and to provide guidance in their use. Materials and services should be in sufficient supply to make the Library a dependable resource for most of the people most of the time. The Library draws upon the collection and resources of libraries in the Reaching Across Illinois Library System as well as the state and country. This is done so as to provide services and materials which are beyond the scope of the Library's collection. Therefore, a request for specialized material or material for which there is only an occasional demand is met by interlibrary loan.

In fulfilling the above purpose, the Washington District Library Board adheres to the Library Bill of Rights, Freedom to Read Statement, and Freedom to View Statement which affirm that free and convenient access to the world of ideas, information, and the creative experience is of vital importance to every citizen today. (see Appendices A1 – A3.)

TITLE 5: MATERIAL SELECTION AND COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT POLICY

This policy has been adopted by the Washington District Library to guide selection and collection decisions and to make information about the library collection available to library staff and the community. The Material Selection and Collection Development Policy is approved and endorsed as the official policy of the Washington District Library and the Board of Trustees.

A. Responsibility for Selection

Authority and responsibility for selecting library material is delegated to the Library Director by the Library Board of Trustees who may in turn delegate authority to staff, but will remain responsible to see that the policy is followed. Any material so selected in accord with this policy shall be held to be selected by the Board of Trustees.

B. Collection Development Objectives

1. The Library seeks to provide, within its financial limitations, a general collection of materials embracing broad areas of knowledge which meet the following collection development objectives:
 - a. provide resources that encourage lifelong learning.
 - b. provide a broadly based collection that supports recreational reading, viewing and listening.
 - c. provide materials that meet the public's interests and needs in a timely manner.
 - d. provide materials to children, youth of all ages and adults to encourage and promote continued use of the library.
 - e. purchase materials in quantities proportionate to levels of demand.
 - f. practice ongoing collection evaluation.
 - g. keep current with technological changes which affect the development of the collection.
 - h. maintain a current collection with an emphasis on popular materials, but with enough depth to meet the needs of our community.
 - i. provide honest expression of opinion fairly representative of alternative perspectives on controversial issues of public importance.
 - j. provide diverse/ objective resources on controversial issues where an individual can examine issues freely and formulate their own conclusions.

k. regardless of materials selected for the library collection, parents/legal guardians are ultimately responsible for the items chosen by their children.

C. Selection Criteria

1. The selection of materials requires knowledge of: broad subject areas, standard bibliographies, selection tools and review sources, the present status of the collection, and the wants and needs of the community. Reviews in professionally recognized periodicals, standard bibliographies, booklists by recognized authorities (including bestseller lists), surveys of the community and the advice of competent people in specific subject areas with a balance of viewpoints may be used to gain that knowledge.

2. Selection criteria and purchasing levels vary by area, but in general all materials are selected based on the following guidelines:

a. The extent to which the selection adds balance to its area of the collection

b. Patron recommendations/requests

c. Inter-library loan requests, repeated and unfilled

d. Relevance to community interests

e. Current patron interest/popularity

f. Reviews by critics and staff

g. Attention given to an item by reviewers and general news media

h. Professional judgment

i. Award winners

j. Artistic/ literary quality

k. Significance and permanent value to existing collection

l. Budget/cost

m. Suitability and quality of format, content, reading level, scope, style

n. Accuracy/ presents sound and factual data

o. Suitability of subject/style for intended location in the collection

p. Current or historical significance

q. Reputation and significance of author and/or illustrator

D. Gifts

1. Washington District Library accepts and welcomes gifts of materials and funds for the purchase of materials. Unrestricted monetary gifts permit the most flexible use for enriching the collection. The Library accepts restricted funds only if the material to be purchased meets the Selection Criteria and has been jointly approved by the donor and relevant library staff.

2. In order to be added to the Library's collections, gift materials must meet the same criteria as purchased material. It is explicitly understood that such factors as duplication, lack of community interest, outdated knowledge, processing cost, inadequate housing or other factors may prevent the addition of gifts to the collection or their permanent retention, and that, if the Library cannot use them, it may dispose of the gifts in any appropriate manner. The Library makes the final decision on the use, display, housing, access, withdrawal, or other disposition of all gifts.

3. The Library does not appraise gifts, but will, upon request, provide a written acknowledgement of a gift.

4. If funds are given for the purchase of materials in memory of someone, a memorial gift plate will be placed in the items and they will be integrated into the general collection.

E. Controversial Materials

1. The library will acquire materials on a wide and diverse range of viewpoints and ideas, providing opportunities for patrons to exercise their freedom to read.

2. Because of the varying views held by members of the community, some may find certain items offensive. Inclusion of a controversial item in the collection does not constitute library endorsement or approval of an expressed opinion. Nor will access to these materials be restricted. Parents/legal guardians are responsible for their child's reading, viewing, or listening. Only the parents/legal guardians, not the library, may decide what is appropriate for their child.

3. The best method for a library to encourage continuous self-education and informed citizenship is to provide the tools which encourage their growth. Realizing that a democracy cannot operate in a vacuum, we do not avoid the controversial, but we try to adequately present all sides of an issue. However, we cannot purchase, nor should we be obligated to purchase all materials on every subject; we apply the normal selection criteria to materials in each area and select those most applicable to identified needs.

4. If any title in the collection is criticized or questioned by individuals, organizations or librarians within the Washington District Library, the form, "Request for Reconsideration of a Library Materials" may be filled out. Written requests for reconsideration will be evaluated by members of the library staff in light of the Selection Criteria and final determinations will rest with the Library Director. If the person making the Request for Consideration is not satisfied with the Director's decision, they may appeal the decision to the Board of Trustees. The Personnel and Policy committee will draft a letter of explanation to send to the person or organization making the request that explains the board's decision.

F. Collection Management

1. Decisions to purchase materials for the collection are based on the selection criteria contained in this document. Collection management weighs current holdings and new selections to achieve appropriate balance for a well rounded collection.

2. Systematic evaluation and weeding of the collection is required of every selector in order to keep the collection responsive to patrons' needs, to ensure its vitality and usefulness to the community, and to make room for newer materials. Weeding/ active reevaluation is a primary method of maintaining currency and value of the items in the existing collection. Materials are considered for withdrawal based on the following criteria, no one of which need be controlling:

a. Does not meet the needs/interests of the community.

b. Outdated material, including older editions which are often superseded by newer edition or better item on the subject.

- c. Duplicates.
- d. Unnecessary items.
- e. Worn or damaged copies.
- f. Frequency of circulation - for works of historical or literary significance, this criteria should not be the sole basis for a removal.
- g. Misleading or inaccurate information
- h. No literary or scientific merit

3. Statistical tools such as circulation reports - both general and those on specific portions of the collection, fill rates, and reference fill rates, should be used to determine how the collection is being used and how it should change to answer patron needs.

G. Creating A Balanced Collection

Focus on overall collection development seeks, over time, to strengthen sections until the collection approaches an ideal balance. That balance for leisure reading should include a fair representation of each category or section regularly sought by readers of fiction and nonfiction. Not every author, title, or series can be included, but the library strives to offer something for those interested in most categories. An ideal balance is always a subjective judgment, and a work in progress. Librarians will look for ways to open a conversation with readers to gain their insights. The library will offer opportunities for readers to highlight items that are especially enjoyable or helpful, so that similar ones might be found. Librarians will also welcome recommendations for particularly good titles that would help fill out a section.

TITLE 6: REFERENCE SERVICES POLICY

Reference service and materials are available to all persons regardless of the race, creed, color, national origin, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity/expression, physical appearance, physical or mental ability, socioeconomic level, education level and any other legally protected characteristics of the patron. Reference service and materials are available during all hours the library is open and are provided in response to all forms of inquiry including but not limited to patrons in the library, telephone, and email. Names of patrons and the transactions which occur between patrons and the staff are confidential and not discussed outside a professional context.

Some reference requests may require more time or resources than can be provided immediately. If a staff member cannot complete a reference interaction due to other patron requests, staffing levels, or other reasons, the staff member will make arrangements with the patron to complete the reference interaction at a later time.

In the instance of legal, medical, investment, or tax reference questions, the staff may only guide the patron to the material available on the topic of interest. The staff may not evaluate or interpret the information provided nor may the staff define the meaning of terms, offer investment advice, select income tax forms, or serve as a surrogate for a professional in any of the fields listed above. If all materials within the library are beyond the understanding of the patron, the patron will be advised to consult with their professional from the above listed fields for additional information or advice.

When offering help with technology, staff will offer basic help on devices and software applications but are not responsible for any changes made to the devices.

These overdue fine exemption periods will be held during National Library Week and on the Friday before Christmas.

TITLE 11: COMPUTERS AND INTERNET

A. Public Access to Electronic Information Networks

1. Electronic Networks and The Library's Mission:

a. Libraries make it possible for citizens to have access to the information they need to make informed decisions. The Washington District Library is committed to providing access to the Internet, which represents good public policy by maximizing the use of the resources from information networks around the world. Every library user benefits from expanded access to information beyond the four walls of a single library building.

b. The Washington District Library uses electronic information networks such as the Internet for a variety of purposes:

i. Access to shared automation systems that provide bibliographic access to the collections of the local library and libraries in the region and across the state.

ii. Access to the wealth of information resources available via the Internet.

iii. Access to general and specialized databases.

2. Relationship to Other Library Policies:

The Washington District Library's Policy for Access to Electronic Information Networks is part of the library's overall policy structure and should be interpreted in conjunction with other existing policies. Copies of all library policies are available upon request from a library staff member.

3. "Global" Versus "Local" Resources

Most resources available via the Internet and other electronic Information networks are "global" resources rather than "local" resources. The library does not and cannot control the information content available through global resources such as information obtained from outside sources via the Internet. Internet resources enhance and supplement resources that are available locally within a library. Library users must be aware that this library does not exercise control over information obtained via the Internet.

4. Information obtained via the Internet may or may not be reliable, accurate, or current.

5. Links to information on the Internet may not always be valid, and particular information sites on the Internet may sometimes be unavailable, and this unavailability often occurs unpredictably.

6. The Internet is not a secure medium and third parties may be able to obtain information regarding users' activities.

7. Some library patrons may consider certain information obtained via the Internet controversial.

a. The Washington District Library urges library patrons to be informed consumers and carefully evaluate information obtained via the Internet. Users should be aware that the location of the computer workstations might enable an online session to be viewed easily by others.

b. This library is not responsible for damages, indirect or direct, arising from a library patron's reliance citation, or other utilization of Internet information resources.

8. Patron Assistance and Instruction

The Washington District Library's staff may provide assistance to patrons in the use of electronic information networks as time and staff knowledge permits. Printed and online documentation and

The following activities are unacceptable:
 - i. Use of electronic information networks for any purpose which results in the harassment of other users.
 - ii. Destruction of, damage to, or unauthorized alteration of the library's computer equipment, software, or network security procedures.

10. Children's Access to Electronic Information Networks

The Washington District Library supports the right of all library users to access information and will not deny access to electronic information networks based solely on age. As with other library materials, parents or guardians of minor children are responsible for the Internet information selected and/or accessed by their children. Children 17 years of age and under must have an internet user agreement form signed by a parent or guardian.

11. Library Procedures Relating To Electronic Networks

This library has developed certain procedures to assist staff and patrons in the use of electronic information resources. These procedures include (but are not necessarily limited to) the following:

It is the policy of the Library to permit users to engage in forms of electronic communication (email, chat, etc.). However, such use by minors 17 years of age and under may be monitored from time to time and in the event Library staff believe a minor's safety or security is at risk, such privileges will be suspended or revoked.

TITLE 15: ETHICS ORDINANCE (2003/2004-06)

A. Preamble

1. WHEREAS, the Illinois General Assembly has enacted the State Officials and Employees Ethics Act (Public Act 93-615, effective November 19, 2003, as amended by Public Act 93-617, effective December 9, 2003), which is a comprehensive revision of State statutes regulating ethical conduct, political activities and the solicitation and acceptance of gifts by State officials and employees; and

This standard shall be applied in the context of managing an overall portfolio and specifies that investments shall be made with judgement and care, under circumstances then prevailing, which persons of prudence, discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs, not for speculation, but for investment, considering the probable safety of their capital, as well as the probable income to be derived. Investment officers, acting in accordance with this Policy and the written procedures of the Library, and exercising due diligence, shall be relieved of personal responsibility for a security's credit risk or market price/value changes, provided deviations from expectations are reported in a timely fashion and appropriate action is taken to control adverse developments.

E. Objectives

In selecting financial institutions and investment instruments to be used, the following general objectives should be considered in the priority listed:

1. Legality (conforming with all legal requirements)
2. Safety (preserving capital and including diversification appropriate to the nature and amount of the funds)
3. Liquidity (maintaining sufficient liquidity to meet current obligations and those reasonably to be anticipated)
4. Yield (attaining a market rate of return on investments)
5. Simplicity of management

F. Guidelines

The following guidelines should be used to meet the general investment objectives.

1. Legality and Safety:
 - a. Investments will be made only in securities guaranteed by the US government, or in FDIC insured institutions including SAIF of the FDIC. Deposit accounts in banks or savings and loan institutions will not exceed the amount insured by FDIC coverage (unless adequately collateralized pursuant to Regulations of the Federal Reserve regarding custody and safekeeping of collateral).

b. Authorized investments include and will primarily consist of: Certificates of Deposit, Treasury Bills and other securities guaranteed by the U.S. Government, participation in the State of Illinois Public Treasurer's Investment Pool, and any other investments allowed under State law that satisfy the investment objectives of the library district.

2. Liquidity:

In general, investments should be managed to meet liquidity needs for the current month plus one month (based on forecasted needs) and any reasonably anticipated special needs.

3. Yield – Return on investment:

Within the constraints on Illinois law, considerations of safety, and this investment policy, every effort should be made to maximize return on investments made. All available funds will be placed in investments or kept in interest bearing deposit accounts

4. Simplicity of management:

G. Reporting

TITLE 19: EMPLOYEE TRAVEL EXPENSES POLICY

A. Purpose

The Washington District Library will pay for employee travel, meal, and lodging expenses incurred while participating in Library Director-approved official business conducted on behalf of the Library. Employees should exercise the same care in incurring expenses for official business as a prudent person would in spending personal funds.

B. Authorized Types of Official Business.

Travel, meal and lodging expenses will be paid for employees of the Library only for purposes of official business conducted on behalf of the Library. These include, but are not limited to, off-site or out-of-town meetings related to official business and Library Director-approved seminars, conferences and other educational events related to the employee's official duties. If you are unsure whether an expense is covered by this policy, please contact the Library Director.

C. Categories of Expenses.

1. Airfare – Travelers are expected to obtain the lowest available airfare that reasonably meets business travel needs. Travelers should book flights at least 30 days in advance to avoid premium airfare pricing. Only coach or economy tickets will be paid. The traveler will pay for the difference between higher priced tickets and coach or economy tickets with his or her personal funds.
2. Personal Automobiles – Mileage reimbursement will be based on mileage from the work location office to the off-site location of the official business, not from the employee's residence. When attending a training event or other off-site official business directly from an employee's residence, no reimbursement will be made if the distance is less than the mileage of a normal commute to the workplace. If the distance is higher than the employee's normal commute, reimbursement will be paid based on the differential of the commute less the mileage of a normal commute to the workplace. An employee will be reimbursed at the prevailing IRS mileage rate. The traveler will only be reimbursed up to the price of a coach airfare ticket if they drive to a location for which airfare would have been less expensive.
3. Automobile Rentals – The library will pay for the cost of renting an automobile including gasoline expense only as provided in this section. Travelers using rental cars to conduct official business are required to purchase insurance through the rental agency. Car rental insurance will cover the vehicle during personal use, e.g., using the vehicle after the conference has ended. Compact or mid-size cars are required for two or fewer employees traveling together and a full-size vehicle may be used for three or more travelers. The traveler must refuel the vehicle before returning it to the rental company.
4. Public Transportation – The library will cover the cost of public transportation to and from an event if a shuttle service is not provided by the event organizers.
5. Other Transportation – The traveler should utilize hotel shuttle service or other shuttle services, if available. If none are offered, the use of the most economic transportation is encouraged.
6. Hotel/Motel Accommodations – The library will pay for a standard single-room at locations convenient to the business activity. Two employees of the same gender traveling to the same event together should share a double room unless the Library Director approves a different arrangement. In the event of a change in plans or a cancellation, travelers must cancel the hotel/motel reservation so as not to incur cancellation charges. Cancellation charges will not be reimbursed by the Library unless the Library Director approves.
7. Meals - Meal expenses are limited to the current U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) regulations in place at the time the expense is incurred. Staff should refer to the GSA website for maximum daily meal expenses for a given city. The library will pay for staff meals up to, but not in excess of, this rate. Meals provided by the conference or seminar should be deducted from this total rate, at the amount of 1/3rd of the total per meal provided. Partial meal expenses will be provided for departure and return days based on when travelers begin or end the trip. For instance, travelers who begin their trip before breakfast would have the cost of three meals covered by the library. Those leaving in mid-morning would be covered for two meals. Meals during in-state travel that do not include an overnight stay will be covered for actual cost not to exceed the GSA rate. Alcoholic beverages will not be covered.

8. Vacation in Conjunction with Business Travel – In cases where vacation time is added to a business trip, any cost variance in airfare, car rental, lodging and/or any other expenses must be paid by the traveler.

9. Accompanied Travel – When a traveler is accompanied by others not on official business, any lodging, transportation, meals or other expenses above those incurred for the authorized traveler will not be paid by the Library.

10. Parking – Parking fees at a hotel/motel, conference center, or other site will be reimbursed only with a receipt.

11. Entertainment Expenses – The library will not pay for any entertainment expense, unless ancillary to the purpose of the program, event or other official business.

D. Approval of Expenses.

All expenses for a trip must meet the guidelines as set forth in Section C. Expenses that fall outside of these guidelines must be approved by the Library Director in advance. For all travel expenses for which a staff member will need to be reimbursed, please refer to the “Reimbursement of Travel, Meal and Lodging Expenses Policy.” All staff that will ask for reimbursement of travel expenses in excess of $500 must have those expenses pre-approved by the Library Director.

Any unapproved expenses will be covered by the employee.

Any patron who suspects that she or he has encountered sexual harassment should report the incident to the Library Director or, if not immediately available, to the Library Director as soon as possible. Any employee who witnesses or has knowledge of sexual harassment by a Library employee against a patron shall immediately report it to the Library Director or to their immediate supervisor.

Examples

Sexual harassment prohibited by this policy includes verbal, non-verbal, or physical conduct. The terms "intimidating," "hostile," or "offensive" as used above include conduct which has the effect of humiliation, embarrassment, or discomfort.

All Library employees have the affirmative duty to report incidents of sexual harassment perpetrated by patrons upon fellow patrons, whether witnessed firsthand or reported to them. Such incidents must be reported to the Library Director or to their immediate supervisor.

D. Retaliation

It is a violation of this policy to retaliate or to take reprisal in any way against anyone who has articulated any concern about sexual harassment or discrimination against the person raising the concern or against another individual.

It is also a violation of this Policy to retaliate or to take reprisal in any way against any person who has reasonably and in good faith testified, assisted or participated in any investigation, proceeding or hearing concerning any sexual harassment claim or charge or to discrimination against such person.

Such persons also have the availability of whistleblower protections under the Illinois State Officials and Employees Ethics Act, 5 ILCS 430/1-1, et. al., the Illinois Whistleblower Act, 740 ILCS 174/1, et. al., and the Illinois Human Rights Act, 775 ILCS 5/1-101, et. al.

E. Sexual Harassment Reporting Procedure

The following procedure shall be used by any patron or employee who suspects that he or she has been subjected to sexual harassment.

Step 1:

- Reporting by Patrons

- o Any patron who suspects that he or she is the victim of sexual harassment by a Library employee or a fellow patron should report it to the Library Director as soon as possible.

- Reporting by Employees

o A complaint by a Library employee that sexual harassment has occurred shall first be presented to either the Library Director or to the employee's immediate supervisor. If the Library Director or supervisor is the subject of the complaint, then the complaint should be presented to the President of the Board.

Step 2:

If the alleged perpetrator of sexual harassment is a Library patron, normal disciplinary procedures should be followed. In all other cases, the Library Director shall meet with the complainant within three (3) business days of receiving the complaint to discuss the allegations. If the Library Director is absent from work for vacation, sick leave or other reasons, the Library Director will meet with the complainant three days after returning to work. If the complainant chooses to have a representative, then the Library Director may also have a representative; such meeting, however, shall be informal. The Library Director shall issue a written decision within five (5) business days of the meeting.

Step 3:

If the complainant is not satisfied with the Library Director's decision, within five (5) business days of the date of that decision, an appeal may be taken to the Board President or his designee (hereinafter the words "Board President" shall include designee).

The appeal shall be in writing and shall state the reasons for appealing the Library Director's decision. Within five (5) business days of receiving the appeal, the Board President shall meet with the complainant, any representatives, and the Library Director to resolve the matter. The Board President shall issue a written decision within ten (10) business days of this meeting. Any employee found to have sexually harassed a patron or another employee, or retaliated against a patron or employee who alleges sexual harassment, will be subject to discipline up to and including discharge.

Step 4:

If the complainant is not satisfied with the Board President's decision, then within ten (10) business days, an appeal of that decision may be made to the entire Board of Library Trustees. Such an appeal shall be instituted by filing with the Secretary of the Board a statement setting forth the reasons for the appeal. Within twenty (20) business days of receiving an appeal, the Board or a committee hereof shall meet with the complainant, the Library Director, and any representatives to discuss the allegations of discrimination. The hearing with the Board shall be informal, however, the complainant and the administration may present evidence, call, and cross-examine witnesses. The Board may ask questions of the complainant, the administration, and any witnesses. The rules of evidence shall not apply, however, hearsay evidence shall not be presented for proof of any ultimate facts.

Within ten (10) business days after the hearing, the Board shall issue its written decision.

All hearings shall be held in private and at times convenient for the parties. In the event that the person designated to hear a complaint is the alleged offender, then the employee may immediately move to the next step of the procedure. At any step, the person hearing the complaint may conduct or direct such investigation as they deem appropriate, including obtaining a response from the alleged offender. There shall be no harassment or retaliation by any person involved in the process for any reason.

F. Violations and Consequences

In addition to employee discipline up to and including discharge for violations of this policy, a violation by a non-employee patron of this policy may cause a suspension or revocation of library privileges or services. Knowingly making a false report of harassment is a violation of this policy and will be subject to the same consequences.

G. Legal Recourse, Investigative, and Complaint Process Available Through the Illinois Department of Human Rights and Human Rights Commission

Any Library Patron or employee may also use the legal recourse, investigative, and complaint process through the Illinois Department of Human Rights and Human Rights Commission.

TITLE 21: SECURITY CAMERA POLICY

Washington District Library (WDL) uses security cameras for the safety and security of patrons, staff, and property. The security camera installation consists of dedicated cameras which provide real-time surveillance through a video management system. The primary purpose of security cameras is to discourage inappropriate and illegal behavior and activities and, when necessary, to provide assistance to law enforcement in the apprehension and prosecution of offenders, in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local law regarding the confidentiality of library records.

A. Public Notice

WDL shall post and maintain signs at the entrances of any WDL building utilizing security cameras. The signs shall give notice of the use of security cameras for monitoring and recording activity in public areas of WDL property.

B. Camera Location

Cameras are positioned to monitor public areas of WDL such as service areas, entrances, and areas prone to theft, vandalism, or other activities that may violate WDL policy or criminal law.

Under no circumstances shall cameras be located in areas where patrons and/or staff have a reasonable expectation of privacy, such as restrooms.

C. Access to Digital Images

Video data is recorded and stored digitally. Recorded data is considered confidential and secure.

Access to live feeds of images and recorded video data is limited to authorized library staff designated by the Library Director. Live feed activities are randomly monitored. Because the cameras will not be continuously monitored, the public and staff should take appropriate precautions for their safety and the security of their personal property. WDL is not responsible for the loss of property or personal injury.

D. Unauthorized Access and/or Disclosure

Confidentiality and privacy issues may limit the general public from viewing security camera footage that contains personally identifying information about patrons. All requests for disclosure of recorded images, except as stated above for law enforcement, shall be made in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act, and submitted to the Library Director. The Director shall review the requested images and determine if the images contain any information protected by the Library Records Confidentiality Act. As permitted by Section 7(1) of the Freedom of Information Act, when a request is made to inspect or copy recorded images that are exempt from disclosure under the Library Records Confidentiality Act, and also contains images that are not exempt, WDL shall attempt to redact the exempt images and make the remaining images available for inspection or copying.

Only authorized employees can view and/or export video footage. No unauthorized recording of video footage through cell phones, portable devices, or any other means is permitted. Any WDL employee who becomes aware of unauthorized disclosure of a video recording and/or a potential privacy breach has a responsibility to immediately inform the Library Director of the breach.

E. Retention of Digital Images

Recordings shall be kept for approximately 30 days with the exception of appropriate still shots or selected portions of the recorded data relating to specific incidents. The latter shall be retained for one year after the incident or until such time as any legal matters pertaining to the recording have been resolved. The storage media shall be kept in a secure area.

In situations involving banned patrons, stored still images may be shared with staff library-wide.

F. Patron Privacy

Video surveillance records are not to be used directly or indirectly to identify the activities of individual patrons except as viewed in relation to a specific event or suspected criminal activity, suspected violation of WDL policy, or incidents where there is reasonable basis to believe a claim may be made against WDL for civil liability.

Authorized individuals may use a still shot or selected portions of recorded data to request law enforcement review for assessing the security risk of a specific individual or for investigating a crime on WDL property.

Law enforcement officials or agencies may be provided access to the recorded data pursuant to a subpoena, court order, or as permitted by law.

Recorded data will be accorded the same level of confidentiality and protection provided to patrons by Illinois state law and WDL's policies.

G. Disclaimer of Liability

A copy of this policy will be shared with any patron or staff member upon request.

The policy is posted on WDL's official website.

WDL disclaims any liability for use of the video data in accordance with the terms of this policy, given that WDL is a public facility and the security cameras shall be limited to those areas where patrons and/or staff have no reasonable expectation of privacy.

H. Damages and Liability

Any individual using WDL shall be held responsible for willful or accidental damage to WDL's building and collections caused by the individual in accordance with the Washington District Library Policy & Ordinance Manual.

APPENDIX A1: LIBRARY BILL OF RIGHTS

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

1. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background or views of those contributing to their creation.
2. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be prescribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
3. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
4. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
5. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
6. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

Adopted June 18, 1948

Amended February 2, 1961, June 27, 1967, and January 23, 1980, by the ALA Council.

APPENDIX A2: FREEDOM TO READ STATEMENT

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is continuously under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove or limit access to reading materials, to censor content in schools, to label "controversial" views, to distribute lists of "objectionable" books or authors, and to purge libraries. These actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to counter threats to safety or national security, as well as to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals. We, as individuals devoted to reading and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating ideas, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

Most attempts at suppression rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: that the ordinary individual, by exercising critical judgment, will select the good and reject the bad. We trust Americans to recognize propaganda and misinformation, and to make their own decisions about what they read and believe. We do not believe they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

These efforts at suppression are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, art and images, films, broadcast media, and the Internet. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy or unwelcome scrutiny by government officials.

Such pressure toward conformity is perhaps natural to a time of accelerated change. And yet suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with controversy and difference.

Now as always in our history, reading is among our greatest freedoms. The freedom to read and write is almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. The written word is the natural medium for the new idea and the untried voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. It is essential to the extended discussion that serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

We believe that free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. We believe that these pressures toward conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. We believe that every American community must jealously guard the freedom to publish and to circulate, in order to preserve its own freedom to read. We believe that publishers and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those that are unorthodox, unpopular, or considered dangerous by the majority. Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept that challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.

2. Publishers, librarians, and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral, or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what should be published or circulated.

Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. They do not foster education by imposing as mentors the patterns of their own thought. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

3. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to bar access to writings on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.

No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish that draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.

4. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression. To some, much of modern expression is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters values differ, and values cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised that will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.

5. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept the prejudgment of a label characterizing any expression or its author as subversive or dangerous.

The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for others. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.

6. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large; and by the government whenever it seeks to reduce or deny public access to public information.

It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read, and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive. Further, democratic societies are more safe, free, and creative when the free flow of public information is not restricted by governmental prerogative or self-censorship.

7. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a "bad" book is a good one, the answer to a "bad" idea is a good one.

The freedom to read is of little consequence when the reader cannot obtain matter fit for that reader's purpose. What is needed is not only the absence of restraint, but the positive provision of opportunity for the people to read the best that has been thought and said. Books are the major channel by which the intellectual inheritance is handed down, and the principal means of its testing and growth. The defense of the freedom to read requires of all publishers and librarians the utmost of their faculties, and deserves of all Americans the fullest of their support.

We state these propositions neither lightly nor as easy generalizations. We here stake out a lofty claim for the value of the written word. We do so because we believe that it is possessed of enormous variety and usefulness, worthy of cherishing and keeping free. We realize that the application of these propositions may mean the dissemination of ideas and manners of expression that are repugnant to many persons. We do not state these propositions in the comfortable belief that what people read is unimportant. We believe rather that what people read is deeply important; that ideas can be dangerous; but that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society. Freedom itself is a dangerous way of life, but it is ours.

APPENDIX A3: FREEDOM TO VIEW STATEMENT

The FREEDOM TO VIEW, along with the freedom to speak, to hear, and to read, is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a free society, there is no place for censorship of any medium of expression. Therefore these principles are affirmed:

1. To provide the broadest access to film, video, and other audiovisual materials because they are a means for the communication of ideas. Liberty of circulation is essential to insure the constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression.
2. To protect the confidentiality of all individuals and institutions using film, video, and other audiovisual materials.
3. To provide film, video, and other audiovisual materials which represent a diversity of views and expression. Selection of a work does not constitute or imply agreement with or approval of the content.
4. To provide a diversity of viewpoints without the constraint of labeling or prejudging film, video, or other audiovisual materials on the basis of the moral, religious, or political beliefs of the producer or filmmaker or on the basis of controversial content.
5. To contest vigorously, by all lawful means, every encroachment upon the public's freedom to view.

This statement was originally drafted by the Freedom to View Committee of the American Film and Video Association (formerly the Educational Film Library Association) and was adopted by the AFVA Board of Directors in February 1979. This statement was updated and approved by the AFVA Board of Directors in 1989.
